On 9/12/66, [] advised SA [] he had heard several of the "boys" recently remark they were surprised that SALERNO let RUBY LAZARUS get by with his alleged "double cross" which took place shortly before or at the time LAZARUS lost so much money, over a year ago. These individuals could not clarify the above comment, but were positive that LAZARUS "clipped" SALERNO in some manner. They pointed out that for years LAZARUS "was a nobody", that he was a small-time bookmaker and gambler who SALERNO took a liking to and "made LAZARUS". Reportedly the results of the JOHANSON - PATTERSON Prize Fight was the first really big money that LAZARUS had acquired. LAZARUS had been "shy locking" bookmaking and betting with a lot of money when he, LAZARUS, "went bad" over a year ago.

As of late, LAZARUS, who is now "on his own", has been "going bad" in card games, bookmaking, and betting. LAZARUS according to source no longer is in the "shy locking" business. It is the opinion of the "boys" that LAZARUS put aside a big bundle when he was in big money and going good because for the past six months or more LAZARUS paid out far more money than he has taken in. Source was told that LAZARUS pays $3,000 a year rental for his apartment.

[REDACTED]

On 12/19/66, [REDACTED] advised SA [REDACTED] that on December 18, 1966, [REDACTED] was at Caesar's Palace Casino, Las Vegas, Nevada and seemed very upset over the fact that the happenings at the Palm Springs meeting had gotten into the local newspapers. [REDACTED] on this date had a long telephone conversation with an unknown party; he was heard to state that the "the governments leak" was not through the local authorities at Palm Springs and/or Las Vegas, Nevada, because these authorities had no knowledge whatsoever.

b2

[REDACTED]

The source indicated that when [REDACTED] used the term "government leak" source was unable to determine whether [REDACTED] meant the leak to the government about the Palm Springs meeting or the leak of the proceedings of the Federal Grand Jury to the newspapers.

RUBY LAZARUS left the Miami area and returned to New York City. At the time of his departure, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

It was the opinion of [REDACTED] that if [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] had not interceded for LAZARUS, SALERNO would have gotten rid of LAZARUS re his welshing on bets. He further stated that after this episode, none of the local bookmaking fraternity would have anything to do with him because of his "no pay" reputation.

He also indicated that his hotel is now free of the hoodlum element and that when [REDACTED] SALERNO, [REDACTED] and other such individuals come to the area they now stay at the Seville Hotel on Miami Beach.

Assistant U. S. Attorney RICHARD M. COLEMAN made available IRS files concerning VINCENT ALO, RUBY LAZARUS, [REDACTED] ANTHONY SALERNO and [REDACTED] which revealed the following:

An IRS memo dated 1/25/62, revealed that ANTHONY SALERNO was admitted to New England Baptist Hospital, Roxbury, Massachusetts, on 4/25/61. His admission was arranged by [REDACTED] Massachusetts.
